 If you have font problems with the TechEye® Integrated Remote Pro™ Live Viewer (display of the control panel is garbled), you may have an older version of Windows that does not have a necessary font installed. The latest TechEye® Integrated Remote Pro™ installs the font, but in order to get your system to recognize it, you must open the Fonts applet in Control Panel one time. Go to Start > Settings > Control Panel > Fonts. You may then close the Fonts window and the Control Panel, and start the Live Viewer. If this does not solve the problem, please go to Start > Windows Update, and make sure you have all the latest updates.
